

Mont Saint-Sauveur takes out the heavy artillery!

Saint-Sauveur, October 16 2009- Snow lovers be ready, the ski season is about to begin. During the last night, Mont Saint-Sauveur's snowmaking system already started to blow in order to prepare the mountain for the new winter season.

The many snow guns and the pipeline system allows to double the capacity of snow making, while realizing an important energy saving. So, that being said with more snow, the season will be even longer!

We take every cold temperature opportunity Mother Nature brings us. Be sure that when temperatures will reach -2 degrees, snow guns will be turned on and we will be able to cover two trails simultaneously: The Nordique and the 70 west.

On the way to a record

"Mont Saint-Sauveur has offered the longest ski season in Quebec for several years", said the director Customer Experience of Mont Saint-Sauveur, Christian Dufour. Indeed, with a possible opening soon, Mont Saint-Sauveur could beat its own record, which was established October 27th in 1997 and had been the longest ski season with its closure in June. The 2009-2010 winter season reserves many surprises!

So, do not wait any longer to buy your season pass to enjoy the first run of the season. For more information, visit www.mssi.ca.

Mont Saint-Sauveur has been holding the status of the first ski station to open in Quebec for several years.
